10. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS (50+ Q&A)

General Questions

Q1: Do I need to speak Chinese to study in China? A: No! Many programs are taught in English. However, learning basic Chinese is helpful for daily life.

Q2: Can I apply for multiple scholarships? A: Yes, apply to as many as possible to increase chances. But can only accept ONE Chinese government scholarship.

Q3: Is IELTS required for Chinese scholarships? A: NO, for most scholarships! An English proficiency certificate from your previous institution is usually accepted.

Q4: What is the best scholarship to apply for? A: CSC (Type B) is most popular. ANSO is best for STEM PhD/Master's. Provincial scholarships are less competitive.

Q5: When should I start preparing? A: At least 12 months before your intended start date (September 2026 = Start September 2025).

CSC Scholarship Questions

Q6: What is the difference between CSC Type A and Type B? A:

- Type A: Apply through embassy/government ministry in your country
- Type B: Apply directly to university

Q7: Do I need a pre-admission letter for CSC? A: Not mandatory but HIGHLY RECOMMENDED. It significantly increases success rate.

Q8: Can I apply to multiple universities for CSC? A: Yes! Can apply to 3 universities with one account. Separate application for each.

Q9: What if I get accepted by multiple universities? A: CSC will choose ONE for you. You cannot hold multiple scholarships.

Q10: How many people get CSC scholarships? A: About 10,000+ annually out of 30,000+ applications (~33% success rate).

ANSO Scholarship Questions

Q11: Can I apply to both UCAS and USTC for ANSO? A: NO! Can only apply to ONE. Will be disqualified if apply to both.

Q12: Is ANSO only for developing countries? A: No, open to all countries. ANSO-CAS-TWAS/UNESCO sub-category prioritizes developing countries.

Q13: What fields are available for ANSO? A: Only STEM fields (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics). No humanities, business, or arts.

Q14: Is ANSO better than CSC? A: For STEM PhD/Master's, ANSO is excellent (higher stipend, top research). For other fields, go CSC.

Q15: Do I need a supervisor for ANSO? A: Not mandatory but STRONGLY recommended. Contact CAS supervisors early.

Application Process Questions

Q16: When do applications open for Fall 2026? A:

- CSC: December 15, 2025
- ANSO: October 20, 2025
- Provincial: October-December 2025
- University: Rolling (November 2025-April 2026)

Q17: What is the application deadline? A:

- ANSO: February 15, 2026 (strict)
- CSC Type B: February-April 2026 (varies by university)
- Provincial: February-March 2026

Q18: Can I apply after the deadline? A: Usually NO. Some universities have rolling admission but scholarships have firm deadlines.

Q19: How do I get a pre-admission letter? A: Contact university's international office or potential supervisor. Explain you're applying for scholarship.

Q20: Do I need to send physical documents? A: Depends on university. Most require online only now. Check university website.

Document Questions

Q21: Do documents need to be notarized? A: YES. Diplomas and transcripts must be notarized. Go to notary public or your country's foreign affairs office.

Q22: What if my diploma is not in English or Chinese? A: Must get it officially translated to English or Chinese by authorized translator, then notarized.

Q23: I haven't graduated yet, can I still apply? A: YES! Provide "Pre-Graduation Certificate" or "Expected Graduation Letter" from your current school.

Q24: What if I cannot take HSK before deadline? A: Apply with commitment to learn. Universities often provide 1-year Chinese language program before degree.

Q25: How do I get the Physical Examination Form? A: Download from CSC website or university website. Take to any hospital capable of doing full medical checkup.

Language Questions

Q26: I don't have IELTS, can I still apply? A: YES! Get English Proficiency Certificate from your university stating instruction was in English.

Q27: What HSK level do I need? A:

- Undergraduate: HSK 4 minimum
- Master's: HSK 4-5
- PhD: HSK 5-6

Q28: Can I study in Chinese if I don't know Chinese? A: Yes! If accepted, you'll do 1-year Chinese language program first (funded by scholarship).

Q29: Are all programs available in English? A: No. Maybe 30-40% of programs. Engineering, Business, Medicine increasingly have English options.

Q30: How can I improve my Chinese for applications? A: Take HSK prep courses, use apps (HSK Online, Super Chinese), watch Chinese shows with subtitles.

Scholarship Benefits Questions

Q31: What does CSC full scholarship cover? A: Tuition + accommodation + monthly stipend (2,500-3,500 RMB) + medical insurance.

Q32: Is the stipend enough to live on? A: Yes, in most cities! Covers food and basic expenses. May need extra for travel/shopping.

Q33: Can I work part-time with scholarship? A: Limited. Need university approval. Generally not allowed for full scholarship students.

Q34: What if I need more money? A: Look for tutoring opportunities (teaching English), part-time on-campus jobs (with approval).

Q35: Does scholarship cover flights? A: No, CSC doesn't cover flights. ANSO provides one-time travel allowance (reimbursement).

Results & Admission Questions

Q36: When will I know if I got the scholarship? A: Usually May-June 2026 for Fall intake.

Q37: How will I be notified? A: Email from university + check online application portal.

Q38: What if I'm not selected? A: Can reapply next year, or look for other scholarships, or apply as self-funded student.

Q39: Can I defer my scholarship? A: Usually NO. Must use in the year awarded. Contact university to ask.

Q40: What happens after I get accepted? A: University sends admission notice + JW201 form → Apply for visa → Travel to China.

Life in China Questions

Q41: Is it expensive to live in China? A: No! China is very affordable. 1,500-3,000 RMB/month covers living in most cities (scholarship stipend).

Q42: Do I need to learn Chinese? A: Not mandatory for English programs, but HIGHLY recommended for daily life and better experience.

Q43: Can I travel in China during studies? A: YES! China has excellent transportation. Use holidays and weekends to explore.

Q44: Is China safe for international students? A: Yes! China is very safe with low crime rates. Universities have good security.

Q45: What about food if I'm vegetarian/Muslim/have allergies? A: Chinese cities are diverse. Halal food widely available. Vegetarian options increasing. Inform university of dietary needs.

Visa Questions

Q46: How long does visa processing take? A: 4-7 working days regular, 2-3 days express (extra fee).

Q47: Can I travel outside China during studies? A: Yes! Ensure your residence permit is valid and doesn't expire while you're away.

Q48: What if my visa is denied? A: Rare if you have proper documents. Can reapply. Contact university for support letter.

Q49: Do I need to register with police in China? A: YES! Within 24 hours of arrival at local police station. University will guide you.

Q50: Can my family visit me? A: Yes! They can apply for tourist visa (L visa) to visit you in China.

After Graduation Questions

Q51: Can I work in China after graduation? A: Yes! Can apply for work visa if you find a job. Many graduates stay in China.

Q52: Is my Chinese degree recognized internationally? A: Yes! Degrees from accredited Chinese universities are internationally recognized.

Q53: Can scholarship students do internships? A: Yes, usually during summer. Some programs include mandatory internships.

Q54: What are job prospects after studying in China? A: Good! Chinese companies, multinational corporations, international organizations value China experience.

Q55: Can I extend my scholarship? A: Usually no for undergraduate. For Master's/PhD, possible if research requires it (need approval).
